BURCH'S FATE HANGS ON MEANING OF WORD

HOLD FATE OF ACCUSED MURDERER IN THEIR HANDS

Burch Jurors Snapped as They Reported to Judge Reeve. Court Reporter Kincald is seated at the left with his back to the camera.

JURORS ASK DEFINITION OF 'PREPONDERANCE' OF EVIDENCE; NO VERDICT

Arthur Burch's fate hung on the definition of a word last night while for fifty-four minutes the ten women and two men trying him on a charge of murdering J. Belton Kennedy waited in a stilled courtroom for counsel to agree on the legal meaning of "preponderance."

The request came from Mrs. Eva DeMott. After the long wait Judge Reeve read the definition agreed upon and Mrs. DeMott replied:

"Yes, I understand it. It will take me only thirty seconds to vote."

The court and attorneys waited. A minute passed, then another until five minutes later the buzzer from the jury room sounded. Another hushed stillness descended upon the courtroom. Balliff Reed went to the door. He talked a minute with the jurors and then came back to whisper into the judge's ear.

JURY TAKEN TO HOTEL

Judge Reeve announced the jury was taken to the hotel. They took the case. When they left the courtroom at thirteen minutes past midnight they had been out fifty-five hours, lacking ten minutes.

Earlier in the evening a poll of the jury by the judge showed the members to stand ten to two on the subject of guilt or innocence. Burch, who had waited almost an hour in the courtroom trying to read the faces of the jurors while the attorneys were agreeing upon a definition of the word, was taken back to the County Jail.

The matching of wits between Dist. Atty. Woolwine and Chief Defense Counsel Paul W. Schenck over the definition presented by the jury was the most dramatic scene of the entire trial that started eight weeks ago.

Although it was almost midnight, the courtroom was crowded. The attorneys were seated at counsel tables. The jurors were seated in the center of the courtroom.

The interpretation placed on the request of Mrs. DeMott about the meaning of "preponderance" was that the question of Burch's guilt or innocence was to be decided by the jury. It was a question of the evidence, according to the law, and it is not necessary to prove it beyond a reasonable doubt.

When the question first was asked Judge Reeve responded "greater weight," but the attorneys then seized large law volumes and sent to their offices for "stock instructions." Burch folded his arms across his chest, apparently not fully realizing the importance of the exact language which was soon to be repeated to the jury.

After returning to their room and failing to agree upon a verdict, the jurors filed out of the courtroom. The bus that took them to the hotel.

Mrs. DeMott was accompanied by Mrs. W. B. Swetland and Mrs. R. B. Bird, both of whom were believed to be aiding at times in the pre-Burch alignment. They will return to the jury room for further deliberations at 9:30 this morning.

DEFINITION IS GIVEN. The definition of "preponderance" as given by Judge Reeve after a stipulation by the opposing counsel, follows:

"The Court: The jury's request for the definition of the preponderance of evidence as follows: By a preponderance of evidence is meant such evidence as, when weighed with that opposed to it, has more convincing force and from which it results that a greater probability in favor of the party upon whom the preponderance of evidence lies on the question of the sanity or insanity of the defendant Burch."

According to dispatches from St. Louis, it is believed Claussens went to the girl's home, 761 Arsenal avenue, after reading that she had kept her word to him, and saw the body taken in the door. The two notes, returned to the rear of her home, took her half of the poison and lay down to wait for death.

CLAUSSENS, lashed by the mother's tongue returned to St. Louis, she returned with her mother. A few hours later his body was found in an alley. He had kept his end of the death agreement. In a pocket of his coat were found two notes. They told of the mad love he bore for his emerald-eyed daughter and of their determination never to be separated. "Now," said one of the notes, "we can be together—in peace."

WAITED FOR DEATH. The body of the girl he loved was taken to St. Louis on a train Saturday night, accompanied by her mother, who was almost prostrated with grief.

AGREEMENT ON TREATY SEEMS NEAR

Poincare's Stand Not Far Different from That of Briand, It Appears.

PARIS, Jan. 15.—The supposed wide divergence of views held by Poincare and Briand on the Franco-British pact appears lacking in the light of later information brought by delegates returning from Cannes. It appears that the text of the pact as published, represented an incomplete stage; it was the text of that part agreed to, prepared by Lloyd George and handed to Briand.

Briand, it is said, immediately to have called the attention of Lloyd George to the fact that the text of the pact as published, represented an incomplete stage; it was the text of that part agreed to, prepared by Lloyd George and handed to Briand.

The paper prints what it alleges to be the remarks of many men in the street to the effect that "Lloyd George, ambitious to hold the supreme diplomatic command in Europe, is treating the French like children."

These remarks, it is said, are not only a reflection on Lloyd George, but also a reflection on the French government.

It is also said that the French government is not only a reflection on Lloyd George, but also a reflection on the French government.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS FAR FROM DEAD, SAYS WILSON

Great Demonstration Given Former President After Opening of Foundation Campaign.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Breaking the silence studiously maintained ever since he left the White House on March 4 last, Woodrow Wilson, former President of the United States, tonight renewed his faith in the vitality of the League of Nations.

Responding to the greetings of several thousand men and women who marched to his 8-street home this evening, following a mass meeting at the new National Theater, at which the local campaign for the Woodrow Wilson Foundation was launched, Wilson declared "there can be no doubt as to the vitality of the League of Nations" and that "it will take care of itself" and those who "don't regard it will have to look out for themselves."

Wilson, who was accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, and a large group of friends, including many of the League of Nations leaders, was met by a large crowd of people who had gathered to see him.

"HOCKABLE" GIFT MOST USEFUL ONE

Post-Holiday Season is the Busiest Time for All Pawnbrokers.

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Jan. 15.—When is a Christmas gift a useful gift? When it can be pawned, seems to be the answer after a visit to pawnshops in Milwaukee, and learning that this is the pawnbroker's busiest season—when useful Christmas presents are "hocked."

Christmas watches head the list of pawned jewelry here by a large margin. Then there is the pretty little ivory clock that someone sent home, and thinks that the little ivory clock is more useful in its service to tide him over for the week-end.

The girl finds that wrist watches, trinkets and trinkets bring enough at the pawnshop to tide her over a pinch. She explains in detail the cause of her coming to the store in way of apology, and leaves as though she had parted forever with a most treasured gift.

One of the largest pawnbrokers in the city said today that this is the first year that they were really deluged for loans on Christmas presents and anything and everything was offered as security for a small loan. That these people were not habitual pawners he pointed out was evidenced by the way in which they approached the store. They enter the pawnshop cautiously, he said, and should there be another customer in the store, try to whisper their wants and are very reluctant to show the article carried.

ARREST BROKERS IN "QUEER" STOCK DEAL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—An alleged stock transaction in the open market, involving 2700 shares of California Crushed Fruit Company, caused the arrest of night of William Herman, James Graf and Henry Spitz of the brokerage firm of Graf & Co., on a charge of grand larceny.

The complainant, William Lennox, member of the brokerage firm of Lennox & Montford, charged that the three brokers instructed his firm on December 29 to buy the stock at the market price for Graf & Co., and at the same time, threw on the market an equal quantity of the same stock, which was sold at a profit to Graf & Co. and was bought by Lennox & Montford for $117,750. He further charged that when the stock was offered to Graf & Co., in accordance with the agreement, the firm refused to accept it.

MANCHESTER (Ky.) Jan. 15.—Armed with rifles and two machine guns, Kentucky National Guardsmen arrived here today and tomorrow will go on duty at the Clay County Courthouse, where Circuit Court will convene for the trial of Steve Martin, alleged feudist, charged with the murder of Wood Burge.

Randburg No. 1, the second well to be spudded on Signal Hill, was brought in early this morning, making the tenth in the field. It is declared to be one of the largest of the company saying it is flowing by the heads at the rate of 2500 barrels a day. It is 200 feet from the Shell company's discovery well.

Fight Water, Power Act.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15.—Organization of the Greater California League, designed to defeat the proposed water and power act which would permit municipalities and others to control and operate power plants, was announced here today.

The water and power act is to be submitted to voters at the November election as a proposed Constitutional amendment.

Not "Missing," Returns.

Mrs. Emily Mersperfeld of 1241 Chestnut avenue, who was reported missing last Saturday night, walked into Central Police Station last night and advised that she had not been missing at all, but was residing with her father. Accompanying her was Wilbur E. Armstrong, who Mrs. Mersperfeld's husband, Charles Mersperfeld, stated in his report he suspected of having induced his wife to leave home. Mrs. Armstrong declared to police officers that he had not influenced Mrs. Mersperfeld to leave home.

KEPT DEATH AGREEMENT.

Claussens, lashed by the mother's tongue returned to St. Louis, she returned with her mother. A few hours later his body was found in an alley. He had kept his end of the death agreement. In a pocket of his coat were found two notes. They told of the mad love he bore for his emerald-eyed daughter and of their determination never to be separated. "Now," said one of the notes, "we can be together—in peace."

WAITED FOR DEATH. The body of the girl he loved was taken to St. Louis on a train Saturday night, accompanied by her mother, who was almost prostrated with grief.

According to dispatches from St. Louis, it is believed Claussens went to the girl's home, 761 Arsenal avenue, after reading that she had kept her word to him, and saw the body taken in the door. ## WILL MARRY WEST POINT COMMANDER

Quaker City Society Woman Announces Engagement to MacArthur.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The engagement of Mrs. Louise Cromwell Brooks, well-known in Washington society, to Brig-Gen. Douglas MacArthur, U.S.A., superintendent of the United States Military Academy at West Point, was announced last night. Mrs. Brooks, who came to Washington to attend the dance of the One Hundred Club at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gossel, Gerry, where many of her friends in smart society were present, permitted it to become known that her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Stotsbury of Philadelphia, were making announcement of her engagement to Brig-Gen. MacArthur.

Mrs. Brooks is the only daughter of Mrs. Edward Stotsbury by her first husband, the late Oliver Cromwell Brooks, of New York, and Washington and was formerly the wife of Walter D. Brooks, Jr., of Baltimore and Green Spring Valley, Md. She was married until 1913 when she obtained a divorce from him. In France, Brig-Gen. MacArthur is one of the leading figures in the Spanish-American War and served subsequently as a general in the Philippines.

ASSESSMENTS ARE UPHOLD BY COURT.

YUBA CITY, Jan. 15.—A decision sustaining assessment No. 6 of the Sacramento-San Joaquin Irrigation District under which approximately $3,000,000 will be raised for the Sutter by-pass and other irrigation improvements, was handed down by a special court here yesterday.

French Captain from Dieppe First Discoverer of America, Claim Advanced in Paris.

PARIS, Jan. 15.—The French press has entered one more contestant for the honor of having discovered America. This time it is a Frenchman, one Capt. Jean Cousin of Dieppe, who, historian of this country say, reached the continent of South America, near the mouth of the Amazon, four years before Columbus set out on his eventful voyage.

Cousin's discovery, according to his champions, grew out of commercial enterprises founded jointly by merchants of Rouen and Dieppe. The trade of these cities with their African posts founded in 1482 was halted by the war with England.

BOUGHT NEW LANDS. When an attempt was made to resume the trade it was found that the Dutch, English and Portuguese had obtained control of the African coast as far south as the equator, and that it was necessary to arm all ships. Thirty Norman merchants, wishing to avoid this expense, fitted out a fleet under Cousin and commanded him to seek new trading lands to the west of Africa.

Leaving Dieppe in 1482, according to the tradition, Cousin sailed southward to the equator and then turned westward reaching the American continent two months later.

ROUNDED GOOD HOPE. Returning to Africa Cousin is declared to have sailed south and to have rounded the Cape of Good Hope nine years before Vasco da Gama.

Cousin's champions, who have existed in every century since his alleged discovery, have all declared that the captain was accompanied on his voyage by a Spaniard named Vicente Pinzon, a notorious fellow whom Cousin is said to have expelled from France. It is pointed out that three Pinzon brothers accompanied Columbus on his voyage four years later. Vicente Yanes Pinzon was navigator for Columbus.

Schooner's Crew in Dire Straits, Finally Rescued.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Without food and water for two days and during that time lashed to the cabin hatch of their water-logged craft to prevent them from being washed overboard, Capt. V. M. Cole and seven members of the crew of the American schooner James M. Hall arrived today on the steamship West Canon, which rescued them 350 miles southeast of Cape May, N. J.

Virtually abandoning hope of being picked up alive, the shipwrecked crew used its remaining dry match Friday night to set fire to a dishpan of gasoline in a last desperate attempt to make known its plight. The flare was seen from the West Canon, which immediately rescued the men, who were suffering from cold and hunger.

NEW CABINET FOR FRANCE.

Millerand Accepts Poincare's
Appointments.

Premier's Plans Meet With Only Partial Success.

Sarraut, Now at Washington,
Will Keep Post.

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
PARIS, Jan. 15.—Raymond Poincare, who succeeds Aristide Briand as Premier of France, completed his ministry today and presented their names to President Millerand. The President accepted the designations.

The Cabinet follows:
NEW CABINET.
Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs, Raymond Poincare.
Vice Premier, Minister of Justice, M. Sarraut.
Minister of War and Pensions, Andre Maginot.
Minister of Marine, M. Rabreau.
Minister of Finance, Charles De Lasteyrie.
Minister of the Interior, M. Maunory.
Minister of Education, Louis Berard.
Minister of Public Works, M. La Troquer.
Minister of Agriculture, Henry Chéron.
Minister of Colonies, Albert Sarraut. (M. Maginot will take up the duties of this office, until M. Sarraut, who is in Washington, is heard from.)
Minister of Commerce, Lucien Dior.
Minister of Liberated Regions, M. Reibel.
Minister of Labor, M. Peyronnet.
Minister of Health, M. Strauss.

UNDERSECRETARIES.
The following undersecretaries of state also were announced: Attached to the Premier, M. Collet.
Merchant Marine, M. Rio.
Posts and Telegraphs, M. Lafont.
Technical Education, M. Vidal.
Aeronautics, M. Eynaud.
The new Premier achieved a notable success in limiting the ministerial crisis to three days, but failed to accomplish the desire with which he is credited of forming a Cabinet of wide national union on the lines of the cabinet formed in 1914 and 1915, while he was President. Not that he could be expected to include Socialists for their press has accused on his return to power to revive charges that he personally was responsible for the war.

PARTIAL FAILURE.
His partial failure, as explained by the Petit Parisien, may be attributed in part to the fact that the situation, although grave, cannot be compared to that of 1914 and 1915. The Chamber elected in 1919 comprises a majority known as the national bloc, which is the opposition on internal policy to the Socialist-Radical group, which previously was the largest and most important group in the Chamber.
M. Herriot, leader of the Socialist-Radical group in the Chamber, announced M. Doumergue, leader

NOVEL WAY TO BOOST CITY.

Prime Offered to the First Wireless Operator Who Receives Message.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
PLAINFIELD (N. J.) Jan. 15.—The Chamber of Commerce has planned a novel way of advertising the city's advantages through the use of wireless telephony. Monday night a message will be sent out from the station operated by Harold Blackford, station 2-QB, wave length 215 meters, and the owner of the aerial outfit who is the first correctly to receive the message and mail it to the chamber will receive a prize of $10. The message will be sent out at 8:15 and 9:30 o'clock.

Of the corresponding group in the Senate, refused office.
M. Sarraut, who held the portfolio of colonies under Briand, and who is in Washington, belongs to this group, but it is taken for granted he will retain his post.
M. Laffont, the new Undersecretary of Posts and Telegraphs, also is a member of the Socialist radical group.

SARRAUT'S POSITION.
At a meeting today the party decided that Sarraut, having been charged with a delicate and complex mission in the national interest, should carry it out to the end with power to consult his friends on his return regarding his remaining in the Cabinet.
Of the fourteen ministers four are secretaries—Poincare, Peyronnet, Strauss and Chéron—and ten are members of the Chamber of Deputies. All the undersecretaries are Deputies. Groups forming the left side of Parliament are represented by the Socialists and the Rightists are not.
After expressing the belief that Sarraut would not fall him, Premier Poincare said: "I shall not advance the convocation of the Chamber, as there are many things to do between now and then."

NATION-WIDE COAL STRIKE PROBABLE.

TROUBLE CERTAIN UNLESS MEN OR EMPLOYERS RE-
CEDE FROM STANDS.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—There will be a coal miners' strike not later than March 31—probably extending throughout the country—unless operators or officials of the United Mine Workers of America recede from the stands they now hold.
Proposals to reduce miners' wages and eliminate the check-off system under which dues and other union assessments are collected from the workers pay have bred a controversy that is rapidly developing a "crisis," operators and union leaders are agreed. Indications are that new agreements between employers and the union cannot be effected April 1.
Definite strike threats notwithstanding, operatives of this State are determined to force a wage reduction, according to Dr. F. C. Hennold, secretary of the Illinois Coal Operators' Association, and Rice Miller, president of the organization, who recently declared war on the check-off system. Operators of other States in the central competitive district have assumed a similar attitude on these issues.
Either an attack on the check-off or an effort to reduce wages will provoke a strike, according to Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois Miners' Union.

CARNIVAL TO HELP STARVING RUSSIANS.

RELIEF ENTERTAINMENT TO BE HELD UNDER FRIENDS'
COMMITTEE AUSPICES.

Financial relief for 30,000,000 persons said to be starving in Russia will be sought at a benefit carnival and public dance to be held in Music-Arts Hall the evening of January 19, under the auspices of the Quaker Russian Relief Committee. It is a nonsectarian undertaking, but the funds will be distributed through the American Friends' Service Committee.

Before the carnival begins there will be a talk on famine conditions in Russia. Miss Pearl Withersbee will sing a number of songs. Miss Ann Lacey will give several songs, with Hawaiian Orchestra accompaniment. Miss Helen Garnett will dance "The Firefly" and the "Old-Fashioned Girl."
A $25 prize cake will be awarded to the winners in the waltz contest during the dance. Buffet supper will be served. A quantity of perishable food which has been furnished by local business houses will either be sold at the carnival or distributed among needy families after the entertainment.

GERMAN PRESS SEES DARKLY.

Bitter Over Resignation of Premier Briand.

Watchful Waiting Policy is Now Advocated.

Potential Cabinet Crisis in Berlin is Seen.

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS) BERLIN, Jan. 15.—The German press is unanimously bitter about Briand's resignation and the blow-up of the Cannes conference constitutes a heavy blow to the Worth-Rathenau policy. The German delegation is expected from Cannes tonight.

But Briand's bomb has not shaken the Worth government in its policy of watchful waiting. Political friends close to the Chancellor emphasized that the Worth government had no reason to do anything but keep still and saw wood, pending further developments at Paris and London.

CRISIS IN OFFING.

It was admitted in political circles, however, that if the change in the government of France spelled a radical change in French reparations policy, particularly if the new policy was of marked nationalist or Chauvinistic complexion, with "treat Germany rough" as the slogan, then Chancellor Wirth's personal good-faith policy might well go by the board and be replaced by a less conciliatory and more nationalistic German policy. Thus a potential German Cabinet crisis is still in the offing, although dependent on France's next move.

Two viewpoints are emphasized: first, the increased acuteness of Anglo-French relations; secondly, the blow at Germany's immediate prospects. Contrary to what one might expect, the German press does not jubilate over the assumed increased tension between England and France. Most German editors see no possible benefit resulting therefrom for Germany. On the contrary, having learned a lesson from past experience, most commentators emphasize that an agreement between England and France will undoubtedly be reached—at Germany's expense.

STRENGTHENS ENGLAND.

The social democratic Vorwaerts says: "Although we Germans above all are interested in the question of how France's relations with Germany will now shape themselves, we must bear the fact in mind that Briand's resignation strengthens England and Anglo-French guarantees agreements are jeopardized. Seldom has one blow smashed so much crockery as the blow of the French Nationalist opposition against Briand. But nothing would be more erroneous than for us now to commiserate over a policy with England and Briand against France and Briand's successor. Briand's policy cannot proceed against Germany with the prestige on its own. It can do only two things: either return to Briand's policy of working hand in hand with England, or independently regulate its relations with Germany. Germany need not reject the alternative provided Germany will not allow itself to be pushed into the corner of a policy of victory or defeat."

BITTER REGRET.

There is unanimous bitter regret that the international problem of reparations revision and Germany's economic financial reconstruction as prerequisite to European and world reconstruction the favorite Wirth-Rathenau thesis harbored, however, by all Germans, has apparently received a knockout blow.

German public opinion is trying to extract some comfort, or even optimism, from the proposition that Poincare will quickly ride France to a fall. The Democratic Tageblatt under the headline "Nationalist Bloc's Victory," says: "France offers the world a curious and instructive show. Once again one can see how nationalism, everywhere it attains power and influence, above all harms its own country, and that a nation nationally led is like a mad Ajax raging against himself. The Nationalist bloc, the political exponents of Poincare, cry for 'freedom of action.' They want to return to force. The diplomats assembled in the Cannes Yacht Club must have received with feelings the news that their work had been in vain and that the conference simply has blown up. France has nothing more to say to them. Europe's sickness has entered the acute and most feverish stage. Germany particularly faces earnest and difficult days. No doubt the intentions of the new French Cabinet on the reparations question will be most unfavorable for us. There is nothing else for us to do but to await developments with patience and calmness. It will be a bitter transition period."

POINTS TO DANGER.

The democratic Peoples' Gazette has this to say: "France or Europe? That is the question arising out of Briand's resignation, accentuated by a Poincare cabinet. The pessimism of those Europeans is justified who considered the France of today not ripe for the necessary human and economic solidarity. If Briand's resignation does not give France a sharp jolt now and awaken it from its nationalistic delirium, then there is renewed danger that Europe will forever miss the psychological moment for a new era."

CARNATION WILL RESIST DISEASE.

New Plant is Developed After 24 Years' Special Breeding.

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS) LONDON, Jan. 15.—Crossing the American carnation known as "Mrs. T. W. Lawson," with English plants has produced after twenty-four years of selective breeding, a dashing white variety, the first of a new race of disease-resisting flowers, which is described as a triumph of horticulture. Its breeder, Stuart Low, who is showing his novelty, named White Pearl, at the Royal Horticultural Hall here, has succeeded in retaining the old carnation fragrance, which in many modern varieties has almost vanished. It is stated that the new pedigree carnation has gone through all disease tests and has come out unscathed.

JAPANESE ADD TO TERRITORY.

Want Bonin Islands Ceded as Mainland.

Would Mean Change in Plan for Fortifications.

Washington Has Not Heard of Change in Policy.

(BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS) TOKIO, Jan. 15.—That the Bonin Islands, belonging as they do to the Tokyo prefecture, properly constitute a part of the mainland and must be included in the territory, excluded from the zone of fortification limitation, is alleged to be the decision of the Japanese Cabinet.

The Nichi Nichi today quotes the Foreign Office "as having denied a report that the government has instructed its delegates to make further concessions or proposals regarding Shantung, and says its attitude is unchanged."

MAX NECESSITATE CHANGE.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE) WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—In response by the Japanese that the Bonin Islands be regarded as part of Japan, may necessitate some specific agreement as to fortification of those possessions in the opinion of some arms delegates. It was generally understood, however, that Japan was willing to agree to a continuation of the status quo in the Bonin group, as well as in islands further south if the United States will agree not to fortify Guam.

No information had been received from Tokyo tonight to justify a statement that the fortification question would be settled immediately, Japanese spokesmen declared.

According to information in official circles tonight, an agreement has been reached by the United States, Great Britain and Japan that Singapore shall be excluded from the zone of status quo proposed by Arthur J. Balfour, head of the British delegation. This zone, which was proposed to take the place of the original fortification line, applying generally to the regions of the Pacific, specifies that the island possessions between the 110th and 160th deg. of longitude and the equator and 30th deg. of north latitude, shall be given no increase in fortifications. This proposal, which excludes mainland fortifications from its provisions and affects Hongkong, but not Singapore.

REGIONAL STATUS QUO.

Japanese experts while declaring they were favorable to a regional status quo agreement applying to both sides of the equator, said that the general discussion of the subject was due to the fact that the original fortifications proposal was supposed to apply to the entire Pacific, while the new British suggestion was more local.

The Japanese reiterated that their naval experts had no technical objections to the zone proposal, but they gave the impression that further discussions might be necessary before any final agreement was reached, which refers to the status quo of fortifications could be adopted.

RAILROADS FIGHT RATE REDUCTIONS.

CONTENTED REVENUES NOW DO NOT JUSTIFY CUT. NEED TO REDUCE EXPENSES.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—With their case virtually submitted to the Interstate Commerce Commission in the general rate investigation, the railroads of the country believe they have made a showing that will not warrant a substantial reduction in freight rates and passenger charges. In fact, the railroads oppose any further general reduction and take that position solely on the ground that the revenue will not permit general reductions until there have been further substantial cuts in operating expenses.

Although railroad earnings have shown some improvement in recent months, the rail representatives have stressed the point that to a large extent whatever favorable showing was made was due in large part to deferred maintenance and that if the railroad equipment, way and structures had been maintained as they should have been the net railway operating income in the late summer and early fall would have been far less than what it was.

Another point emphasized by the carriers during the presentation of their case was that if rates are to be cut the moment their net return begins to approach a fair return, there can be little if any development of the rail properties to meet the increased demands of commerce, which will materialize in growing measure as the business of the country gets back on a normal basis.

TRAIN DISPATCHERS' CHIEF IS CRITICAL.

HITS CONFERENCE HELD BY LABOR BODIES AND RAILWAY HEADS.

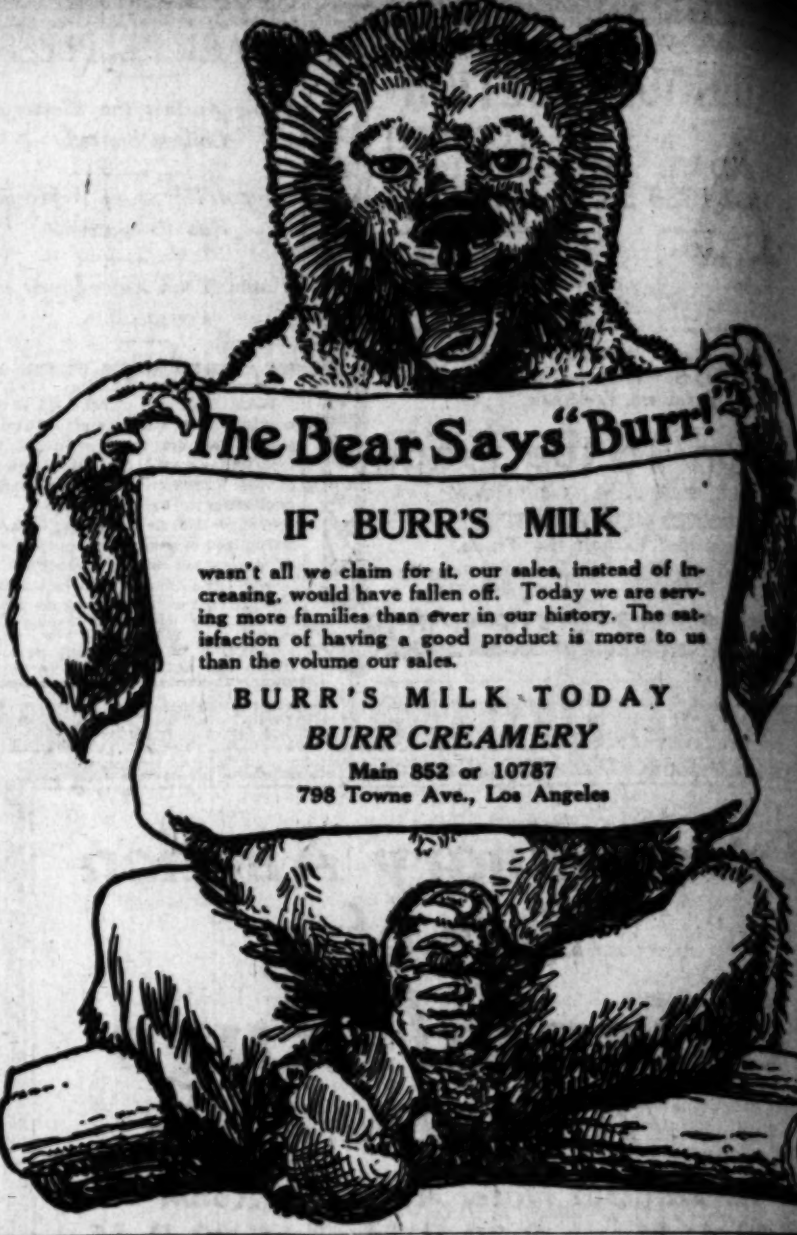

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE) CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—Conference being held between railroad labor organizations and leaders in the Association of Railway Executives, under the auspices of Secretary Hoover, were termed an "atmosphere of hostility" by the labor board in a statement issued tonight by J. G. Lohren, president of the American Train Dispatchers' Association.

"At a time when the Labor Board must fight to have its powers determined in the Federal courts, we have a Cabinet officer setting himself up as intermediary between litigants before the Labor Board," the statement said.

"Can the public draw any other conclusion from this series of conferences than that the Labor Board is being branded in certain quarters as failing to function and does not this appear like an effort to override the authority of this board?" he added.

Mrs. Evelyn Norton Graham.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE) CLEVELAND, Jan. 15.—Mrs. Evelyn Norton Graham, 71, of New York, prominent W.C.T.U. worker and widow of the late Joseph M. Graham, vice-president of the Erie Railroad, died here today.

Woman Hit by Propeller of Airplane Dies.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) RED BANK, (N. J.) Jan. 15.—While thousands were ice-yachting and skating on the north shore of the Delaware Bay, Mrs. Timothy B. Hounihan, 30 years old, was killed almost instantly when struck by the propeller of Casey Brothers aeroplane which was about to take up a passenger. James Casey crashed the propeller and in some unascertained manner the throttle was open.

The crowd thinking they were assisting the aviator, grabbed one of the wings and as the machine veered around the propeller struck the woman and her brother, Lawrence Conkley, who was standing with Mrs. Hounihan's two children and her husband. Mrs. Hounihan was mangled below the breast and part of her clothing was torn off. Conkley lost his right arm below the elbow and his condition is critical. Hounihan and the children were not touched by the propeller.

PLAN CHANGE TO GET FARMER ON BOARD.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE) WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Agreement has been reached by leaders of the Senate agricultural bloc on two alternative designs to remove objections held by President Harding to a measure proposing a farmer representative on the Federal Reserve Board. These are expected to be presented to the White House so that the President may indicate his preference which one will become the accepted solution of Senators supporting the legislation.

The first suggestion, said to have been adopted after informal conference, was that the proposed statute be changed to give membership on the board to representatives of the several phases of national industrial and commercial effort; the second would wipe out any designation as to the make-up of the board, which now includes two members of banking experience and leaves the representation to the authority holding the appointing power.

Further conferences on the propositions appeared likely tomorrow in order to get as nearly to a rock-bottom basis as possible before the Senate convenes when the proposed legislation is to be taken up. Leaders declared they had their views so well in mind that they could put their ideas in legislative shape at a moment's notice if needed.

AN INTELLECTUAL TALK.

"George!"
"Yes, darling."
"Please put down your newspaper. I want to talk to you."
"Yes, precious, in just a minute. I'd like to finish this r-r-r-r."
"George!"
"Yes, sweetest."
"It's five minutes since I spoke!"
"Great Scott, dear, I'm awfully sorry! I—I was just in the middle of a paragraph."
"Have you forgotten that it's two months today since we were married?"
"By Jove, is it? Why—so it is! I knew that something was making me feel awfully good today. That was it."
"And are you going to throw away that old newspaper and talk to me?"

READY FOR CONVERSATION.

"Of course, I am. Come here and sit on my knee. We can talk better."
"I'd love to—but do you think we can talk as seriously that way? What I want to say is very important."
"Of course, we can. Come on and try it. Now put your head right here on my shoulder—that's it—and begin. What did my beloved, precious babykins want to say?"
"If you talk like that, George Blake, I can't say it."
"Then I won't. But, darling, you're beginning to frighten me. What's up?"
"I want you to tell me what the soul is."
"What the soul is. I want to know."
"Why—why—why, darling, what in heaven's name started you off on that track?"
"Well—I've been thinking."
"VERY, VERY SERIOUS."
"Oh, mum's the word. Hurt its precious little head!"
"George, I'm serious. And I want you to be. Please be serious!"
"All right. But—what's the idea?"
"That's what I want to tell you. You see, it came over me today how we were wasting our time."
"Wasting our—What d'ye mean?"
"Well, you come home, and unless we're going to a dinner or a show we both get into a big chair after dinner and you talk baby talk to me!"
"And a jolly good program it is. If both of us get into a big chair after dinner and you talk baby talk to me!"
"Of course I do. But, but, George—oughtn't we to be thinking about our minds?"
"Don't we owe it to each other to cultivate them a little by real conversation?"
"Why—I suppose we do. What was it you wanted to talk about?"
"The soul."
"OH."

RIGHT TO DATE.

"What is it?"
"Hanged! I know."
"Why, George Blake, of course you know. You know everything! And how am I going to learn if I steam shovel stock. Now as a modern mechanical invention I think we can easily say that the steam shovel is a wonderful invention; but it is a fact that I never see one at work today on the streets of Los Angeles where they are kept busily at work leveling down the beautiful foothills which would otherwise add so much diversity and beauty to our city, without actually shuddering that I should meanly be a partner in however small a way to this destruction of natural beauty.

Are we not, as a practical inventive nation, in danger of losing that quality in our character which made the little beauty-loving grace the greatest nation in the world? Certainly the gods have been most gracious to the City of the Angels. Shall it be left to man only to mar her great and glorious future?

MARY M. PERKINS.
233 South Bonnie Brae st.,
Los Angeles, Jan. 11, 1932.

At the Opera.
SAN PEDRO, Jan. 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Monday evening I attended the first performance to the San Carlo Opera Company at the Auditorium, occupying a seat on the mezzanine floor.

Here is a list of what I heard during the rendition of "Aida." Not the order of their music, but arranged according to their auditory prominence:

Choir practice or some similar rehearsal in an annex of the building.

Conventional conventions of ushers in or near the mezzanine entrances.

The heavy tread of feet on the uncarpeted concrete aisles by the numerous and thoughtless tardy patrons.

Distinctly audible explanations by the erudite (?) to the ignorant (?) as to the action of the opera from time to time.

Numerous ill-timed outbursts of applause when someone would have been more than soiled.

(And finally) snatches of the opera now and then.

The real dried-in-the-wool opera lover attends for but one reason—most friends or hear extraneous not to witness a spectacle of so voices, but to listen to instrumental and vocal music. This should be permitted without disturbance.

The amount paid for a seat is but a fraction of the real cost, for he or she, sets aside an evening to be devoted to a musical treat, dresses for the occasion, probably travels a number of miles (about fifty in my case) and attends with anticipation of a pleasant and profitable evening.

To be deprived of these rights under the premises is manifestly unjust.

Tardy patrons should be detained inside the entrance until the fall of the curtain and all other disturbances can easily be eliminated by an efficient theater management with the possible exception of ill-timed applause by enthusiastic but ignorant and thoughtless members of the audience. This last can only be eradicated by patient education.

Opera in Los Angeles has lost its charm for me.

H. R. JACKSON.

The Newberry Men.
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It certainly is a sin and a shame for the highest legislative body in this country to deliberately go on record as being in favor of corrupt elections. It makes no difference how much they sidestep the fact the vote in the Senate today in regard to the Senatorship from Michigan is proof positive that the man who would rather be tried for murder on a straight razor by twelve of my so-called equals. The jury system is wrong and justice is never given. What do hamburger frying women know about evidence and the many tricks that lawyers play to make justice blind their sense of justice. It is a burning shame in this land of ours that a man can be proven by the courts to have purchased a seat in the Senate and then have the Senators fly in the face of the courts and receive him as one of their very own.

And then another thing as long as I am shouting calamity, I must be shouting a remedy. Our noble Johnson, afraid of what the effect might be, tells a wild tale of being held up by a blizzard and gets to Washington too late to vote. A man that will lie about one thing is not generally trusted on another and it is time that the people of California had it burned deep into their think tank that when the Senator of California told a story of trains delayed by snow in Missouri he failed to tell the truth.

The Newberry incident has told us two things we should not soon forget. The Senate of the United States puts party above honesty and the Senator from California does not always speak the truth.

Voters in a free republic can remedy these things if they remember them until election. Now is a good time to commence to remember.

TOM DAWSON.

Woman Jurors.
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The dillydallying and hopeless condition of the Burch jury and the futile result of the first Arbuckle jury to reach a verdict goes to prove the fallacy of women as talesmen.

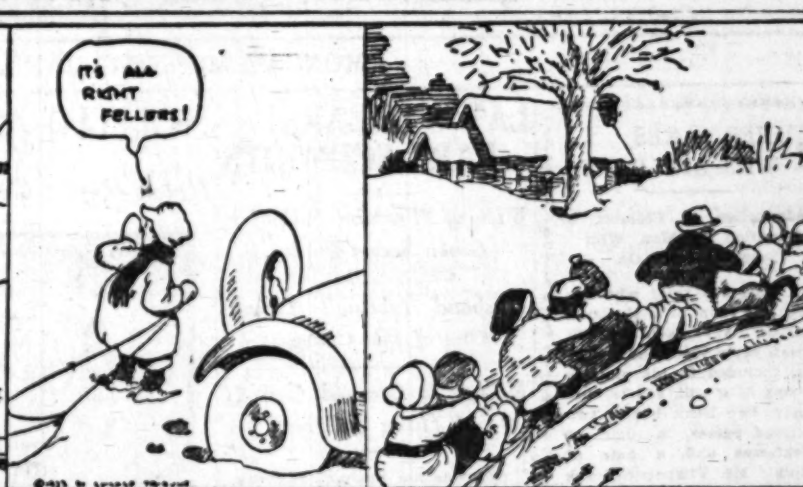

A woman differently constructed and dispositioned than a man is out of place on a jury. She is more liable to forget evidence and let her emotions run amok. Brilliant trial arguments before a mixed jury are wrong. Straight rules of evidence are forgotten and whatever counsel can insert the most pathos in his address wins. It's not a verdict for right or wrong, it becomes a debate decision.

Perjury I would rather be tried for murder on a straight razor by twelve of my so-called equals. The jury system is wrong and justice is never given. What do hamburger frying women know about evidence and the many tricks that lawyers play to make an impression upon their minds? Even though a remark is ruled out, its purpose has been accomplished and despite the judge's warning for the jury to ignore the remark you can't beat your subconscious memory. It will influence ninety-nine out of a 100. For real justice abolish woman jurors or cut out trial arguments.

JAMES BLUM.

Demands Courtesy.
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Not long ago I was in the library and was startled by hearing a young woman employ scream out at an elderly man not to bother those books on that wagon. He had a very gentlemanly manner and said, "I beg your pardon. I had no intention of bothering those books, was merely glancing at their titles."

Everyone was indignant at her manner of speaking to an elderly man. That is merely one instance. I have witnessed other like instances and have had discourtesy shown me numerous times.

The employees there are the most insolent lot of women I ever saw in a public place—bar none.

Another thing I never saw such a lot of trash on the shelves of any library. That is, the books are impossible—if they have a book that has been written any time within the past ten years it goes on the table of "recent" fiction and you pay five cents for the privilege of taking it out. The last time I was in I saw "Par from the Madding Crowd," on this table—a book I read twelve years ago.

And to cap the climax they have given the contract for the new building to an Eastern architect. I, the people of Los Angeles, pay the taxes for the building, but the institution and it seems to me we are entitled to, at least, courtesy when we go there. Of course, it would be too much to expect any assistance in our quest for books, but I claim when we ask a civil question we are entitled to a civil answer.

CORA ADAMS.

Need a Critic.
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Much of the space in the newspapers and more than half of the space in the cinema magazines is filled today with discussions of "What ails the motion-picture industry?"

No doubt those who cite poor direction, reckless extravagance and the other old ills are, in part at least, correct in their diagnosis, but there is one serious thing wrong which new methods of financing and of production will not correct.

One of the principal drawbacks of this great industry is that it has no intelligent press. Look through the "fan" magazines; they are filled with attractive photographs and with columns and columns of trashy "news," puffs and unintelligent "reviews."

The cinema, in short, is in the same sad plight in which the stage in America found itself when there was no intelligent dramatic criticism concerning itself with the drama, when the "reviews," so called, concerned themselves exclusively with the actors and actresses.

Is there no critic in America qualified to do for the cinema what Mencken has done for the novel or what Nathan has done for the stage? At present those reviews of cinema productions which mention plots or dramatic structure are merely absurd, and most of the write-ups deal almost exclusively with the acting, the lighting, the photography or the technical side of production.

It is beside the mark to say that the producers should have charge of their scenario and continuity departments men and women who know the essentials of drama. So they should, but they will make no changes until the newspapers and magazines deal unsparringly with the terrible plots and situations now offered to the public under the guise of silent drama. Los Angeles, the seat of the motion-picture industry, is the place in which this journal innovation should be made, and the place where it would have the greatest effect.

Coffee—A False Friend?

NEARLY everyone loves coffee. But millions dare not drink it, because, in the cheerful cup, lurks an enemy to health—the drug caffeine.

You can't see or taste the caffeine but your heart, your kidneys, your nerves find it. You grow irritable and nervous; at night you toss in your bed instead of sleeping soundly.

Try Coffee that is True

Coffee, then, plays you false. But we have made coffee behave. We buy the finest coffee grown anywhere, remove 95% of the dangerous caffeine drug, roast the purified berries to a rich brown and thus create a true friend to your body and mind as well as to your palate—a true coffee that never plays you false. The name of this unequalled and superb coffee is Kaffee Hag.

Drink Kaffee Hag and you will enjoy the color, purity, aroma and flavor that are the tests of coffee at its drinkable best.

Forget You Ever Had "Nerves"

You need no longer crave coffee and yet fear it. No longer need you drink coffee that irritates your heart, increases your blood pressure, weakens your kidneys, gets on your nerves and destroys your sleep.

When you order coffee, order Kaffee Hag. Then you will find in your coffee cup a new unalloyed pleasure that was never there before. You can drink all you want at any hour. You will forget that you ever had "nerves"; your sleep will be sound and restful.

Grocers sell Kaffee Hag in handsome one-pound packages—ground or in the whole bean—just as you prefer. Today when you order groceries, be sure to have on your list: "Package of Kaffee Hag."

Patterson and Wilson Win Prelude to Golf Championship Meet Which Starts Today

FINISH EXTRA-INNING MATCH IN THE GLOOM.

Victors Battle Macbeth and John Black Extra Round; Committee Changes Championship Plans.

BY PAUL LOWRY.

Automobile headlights were shining brightly and the street globes looked like big yellow pumpkins when the decks were cleared at Wilshire last night. The annual prelude to the State open golf championship—the amateur-professional best-ball event—was finished in a gloom so deep that George Cline, attired in a natty rig of white, looked like the head priest of the Klu Klux Klan as he stood on the home green and waved the flag to and fro.

After trying Norman Macbeth of Wilshire and John Black, the Claremont club professional, with a best ball of 69 for the stipulated eighteen holes, George Patterson of Annandale and Jim Wilson, a professional from the wild cat country of Arizona, had to play their rivals nine extra holes to bring home the hardware. Three of these holes were played in the dark.

IN THE BARRANCA.
Leading by one stroke going to the eighth hole Macbeth and Black tossed away their chance for victory when their approaches varied from the straight and narrow and wound up in the barranca that guards the island green. Eight strokes apiece on a four-par hole utterly ruined them, for Patterson holed a par and put his team three points in the lead. Macbeth got back a tally at the ninth when he sunk a par four, while Patterson was taking five, leaving Patterson and Wilson two points to the good.

Patterson's birdie four at the second hole and John Black's tee shot introduced a par and put the third hole in 333 yards from tee to pin, and Black's stinging drive carried onto the green and all but the thirty-eight yarders finished third, a six on the fourteenth hole hurting their chances, but they wound up with a 76. There were a pair of 71's, a couple of 72's and 73's, 74's and a raft of 75's.

IT WAS AWFUL.
The horrible case with which some of the amateurs defeated their professional partners featured a number of the matches. For instance, Pat Higgins, the demon all-around athlete, finished 17 up on his partner, Frank Elch-salger of Hollywood. Licked his partner 13 up, and won every hole taken by the team except one. Hugo Kirk had ten holes the best of his partner, and other startling professional downfalls were recorded.

Patterson and Wilson, playing beautiful golf, should have won the best-ball affair on the first eighteen holes, but Patterson took three putts from ten feet away on the home green and instead of an easy 68 the figures read 69. Norman Macbeth had three birdies in his round, one of which, however, came on the eleventh, where he had a handicap stroke.

FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP.
The first gun in the battle for the California open championship will be fired this morning, but because of the pure entry field the schedule has been rearranged. (Continued on Eleventh Page.)

Oscar Lane is Whole Show in Casting Bouts.

Oscar Lane was the main fireworks in the semimonthly casting tournament of the Los Angeles Fly and Ball Casting Club at Lincoln Park yesterday afternoon. Lane registered four wins out of seven events, taking top position in dry-fly accuracy, fly distance, plug accuracy and 1-4 ounce distance.

H. A. Richey was also shooting in perfect form and had an easy time putting the unknown-distance-dry-fly event on ice. J. H. Northrop of Santa Ana, a new member of the club, showed remarkable improvement for the short time he has been at the game and is being picked to make a name for himself in several of the events on the regular program. F. W. Kessel of the Illinois Casting Club of Chicago was a visitor yesterday and did some remarkable casting. The scores follow:

Unexpected Happens in Soccer Circles; Uniteds Still Hang on to Their Lead.
THE "I-Told-You-So" boys were confounded as the result of yesterday's doings in the Southern California Soccer League. The wiseguy ones had it all figured out that the Athletic Club would triumph over Pasadena and that Overcast might have a fight on their hands with Sons of St. George, but would surely win. Neither of which transpired. They were right in one guess. L. A. Uniteds romped away with their game against Crown City.
